THE TOAST.

BY WALTER SCOTT.

The feast is o'er! Now brimming wine
In lordly cup is seen to shine
Before each expectant guest;
For each the purpled vintner's hand
Hath filled the crowded hall,
And deep as when the herald's call
Thrills in the royal breast.

Then up arose the noble host
And smiling cried, "A Toast! a toast!
To all our ladies fair.
Here, before all, I pledge the name
Of Stanley's proud and beauteous dame—
The ladye Gundamere!"

Then to his feet each gallant sprung,
And joyous was the shout that rang,
As Stanley gave the word:
And every cup was raised on high,
Nor ceased the loud and gladsome cry,
Till Stanley's voice was heard.

"Enough, enough!" he smiling said,
And lowly bent his haughty head,
"That all may have their due.
Now, each in turn, must play his part,
And pledge the ladye of his heart,
Like gallant knight and true!"

Then one by one each guest sprung up,
And drained in turn the brimming cup,
And named the loved one's name;
And each, as hand on high he raised,
His ladye's grace or beauty praised,
Her constancy and fame.

'Tis now St. Leon's turn to rise
On him are fixed those countless eyes—
A gallant knight is he;
Revered by some, admired by all,
For fame in lady's bower and hall,
The flower of chivalry.

St. Leon raised his kindling eye,
And lifts the sparkling cup on high;
"I drink to one," he said,
"Whose image never may depart,
Deep graven on this grateful heart,
Till memory be dead.

"To one whose love to me shall last,
When lighter passions long have passed,
So holy 'tis and true.
To one whose form hath longer dwelt,
More deeply fixed, more keenly felt,
Than say pledged by you."

Each guest upstarted at the word,
And laid a hand upon his sword,
With fury flashing eye.
And Stanley said, "we crave the name,
Proud knight, o this most peerless dame,
Whom love you count so high."

St. Leon paused, as if he would
Not breathe her name in careless mood,
Then lightly to another;
Then bent his noble head as though
To give that word the reverence due,
And coyly said, "My Mother!"

THE CALICO CLOAK.

'Have you seen the new scholar?' asked Mary Lark, a girl of twelve or fourteen years, as she ran to meet a group of schoolmates who were coming towards the schoolhouse; 'she outs the most comical figure you ever saw. Her cloak is made out of calico, and her shoes are brogans, such as men and boys wear.'

'Oh yes I've seen her,' replied Lucy Brooks; 'she is the new washer-woman's daughter. I shouldn't have thought Mr. Brown would have taken her into the Academy, but I suppose he likes the money that comes through the suds as well as any. It is clearer of course.'

And the air rang with the loud laugh of the girls.

'Come, let us go in and examine her,' continued Mary, as they ascended the steps of the school-house. 'I am thinking she will make sum fun for us.'

The girls went into the dressing room, where they found the new scholar. She was a mild, intelligent looking child, but very poorly, though tidily clad. The girls went around her whispering and laughing with each other, while she stood trembling and blushing in one corner of the room, without venturing to raise her eyes from the floor.

When they entered the school they found the little girl was far in advance of those of her age in her studies, and was placed with those two or three years her senior. This seemed, on the whole, to make those who were disposed to treat her unkindly dislike her the more; and she, being of a retiring disposition, though their influence, had no friends, but went and returned from school alone.

'And do you really think,' said Mary Lark, as she went up to the little girl a few weeks after she had entered school, 'that you are going to get the medal. It will correspond nicely with your cloak.'

And she caught hold of the cape, and held it out from her, while the girls around joined in her loud laugh.

'Calico cloak get the medal! I guess she will! I should like to see Mr Brown giving it to her!' said another girl as she caught hold of her arm, and peeped under the child's bonnet.

The girl struggled to release herself, and when she was free, ran home as fast as she could go.

'Oh mother,' she said, as she entered her mother's humble kitchen, 'do answer Uncle William's letter, and tell him we will come to New York to live! I don't like to live in Bridgeville. The girls call me 'calico cloak,' and 'brogans,' and you don't know, mother, how unkindly they treat me.'

'Lizzie, my dear,' said her mother 'you must expect to meet with those who will treat you unkindly on account of your poverty; but you must not be discouraged.—Do right my child, and you will be sure to come off conqueror.'

Although Mrs. Lee tried to encourage her child, yet she knew that she had to meet with severe trials for one so young.

'But mother, they are all unkind to me,' replied Lizzie; 'there isn't one that loves me.'

And the child buried her face in her hands and sobbed aloud.

In Bridgeville Adcademy there were a few selfish, unprincipled girls, and the others joined them in teasing the little 'Calico Cloak,' as they called her, from thoughtlessness, and from a love of sport. But they knew not how deeply each sportive word pierced the heart of that little stranger, and how many bitter tears she shed in secret over their unkindness.

Mrs. Lee, learning that the scholars still continued their unjust treatment toward her child, resolved to accept her brother's invitation, although he was a poor man, and become a member of the family, hoping that, while there, her child could continue her studies, and perhaps through his influence lead a happier life among her schoolmates. Accordingly at the end of the term she left the school, yet she gained the medal, and it was worn from the Academy beneath the despised garment.

Weeks, months, and years glided away to the students of the Bridgeville Academy, and the little 'Calico Cloak' was forgotten. Those who were at school with her had left to enter upon the business of life.

Twelve years after Mrs. Lee and her daughter left town, a Mr. Maynard, a young clergyman, came into Bridgeville, and was settled as the pastor of the village church. It was reported at the sewing circle, the week following his ordination, that he would bring his bride into town in a few weeks. There was a great curiosity to see her, and especially after it was reported that she was a talented young authoress.

Soon after, Mr. Maynard gratified their curiosity by walking into church with his young wife leaning on his arm. She was a lady of great intellectual beauty, and everybody (as they always are at first) was interested in the young minister and his wife.

The following week the ladies flocked to see her, and she promised to meet them at the next gathering of the sewing circle.

The day arrived, and although it was quite stormy, Mrs. Deacon Brown's parlor was filled with smiling faces. The deacon's carriage was sent to the parsonage after Mrs. Maynard, and in due time it arrived, bringing the lady with it. The shaking of hands that followed her arrival can only be imagined by those who have been present on such an occasion.

'How are you pleased with our village?' asked a Mrs. Britton, after the opening exercises were over, as she took a seat beside Mrs. Maynard.

'I like its appearance very much; it certainly has improved wonderfully within the last twelve years.'

'Were you ever in Bridgeville before?' asked another lady, as those around looked somewhat surprised.

'I was here a few months when a child?' replied Mrs. Maynard.

Their curiosity was excited.

'Have you friends here?' asked a third after a moment's silence.

'I have not. I resided with my mother, the widow Lee. We lived in a little cottage which stood upon the spot now occupied by a large store, on the corner of Pine street.

'The widow Lee?' repeated Mrs. Britton; I well remember the cottage, but I do not recollect the name.'

'I think I attended school with you at the Academy,' replied Mrs. Maynard; 'you were Miss Mary Lark, were you not?'

'That was my name,' replied the lady, as a smile passed over her features at being recognized; 'but I am really quite ashamed that my memory has proved so recreant.'

'I was known in the academy as the little 'Calico Cloak.' Perhaps you can remember me by that name.'

The smile faded from Mrs. Britton's face and a deep blush overspread her features, which in a few moments were seen deepening upon the faces of others present.

There was a silence for some minutes; when Mrs. Maynard looked up she found she had caused considerable disturbance among the ladies of her own age by making herself known.

'Oh! I remember very well when the little 'Calico Cloak' went to the academy,' said an old lady, as she looked up over her glasses, 'and I think, if my memory serves me right, some of the ladies present will owe Mrs. Maynard an apology.'

'I had no intention whatever, ladies,' replied Mrs. Maynard, 'to reprove any one present by making myself known; but as it may seem to some that such was my intention, I will add a few words: Most of the younger ladies present will remember the 'Calico Cloak;' but no one but the wearer knows how deeply each unkind word pierced the little heart that beat beneath it. And as I again hear the old academy bell ring, it brings back fresh to my mind the sorrows of childhood. But let no lady mistake me, by supposing I cherish an unkind feeling toward any one. I know that whatever the past may have been, you are now my friends. But, ladies, let me add if you have children learn from my experience, and treat kindly the poor and despised. A calico cloak may cover a heart as warm with affection, and as sensitive of sorrow, as one that beats beneath a velvet covering. Whenever you meet a child who shows a disposition to despise the poor, tell the story of the 'Calico Cloak;' it will carry its own moral with it.'

'That is the shortest but best sermon I ever heard,' said the old lady again, as she put her handkerchief under her glasses; 'and I do not believe its moral effect will be lost upon any of us.'

The old lady was right. The story went from one to another until it found its way into the old academy. At that very time a little boy was attending school there, whose mother was struggling with her needle to give him an education. The boys often made sport of his patched knees and elbows, and he would run sobbing home to his mother. But when the 'Calico Cloak' reached the scholars, the little boy (for he was naturally a noble hearted child) became very popular in school; and the children, from that time, were very kind to 'Little Patchy,' as he had always been called.

When Mrs. Maynard heard the story of 'Little Patchy,' she felt that she was well repaid for all she had suffered in childhood.

THE ART OF NOT QUARRELING.—Sensible Husband—"How is it we never quarrel, Mrs. Xantippe? Well, I will tell you. You see, for a quarrel, and especially a good quarrel, it is necessary to have two parties. One person can't make a quarrel. Now, if I am in a quarrelsome humor, and break out, my wife remains cool and collected, and doesn't say a word. If my wife is peevish, and displays more temper than is becoming to one of her sex, I, her husband, remain as unmoved as the Monument or else cheat myself into the belief that I am listening for the moment to one of Grisi's heavenly songs. Thus, while one party is volcanically fuming, the other is as calm as a cold potato. In all our quarrels, there is in this way always a controlling power. Seriously, we never quarrel, because there is a philosophic compact between us never to quarrel together. We only quarrel one at a time; and it is astonishing, if you leave a quarrel alone, how very soon it dies out!—That's our secret, madam, and I should advise you, and all Xantippes, to follow it.—Punch.

THE CHICKEN AND FEATHERS.—At breakfast one morning, in that quiet and comfortable old mansion the White Swan, in old York, a foreigner made quick dispatch with the eggs. Thrusting his spoon into the middle, he drew out the yolk, devoured it and passed on to the next. When he had got to his seventh egg, an old farmer, who had already been prejudiced against Monsieur by his moustaches, could brook the extravagance no-longer, and speaking up, said;—'Why sir, you leave out all the white! How is Mrs. Lockwood to afford to provide breakfast at that rate?' 'Vi,' replied the outside barbarian, 'you vouldn't have me to eat de vite? De yolk, is de shicken; de vite do fedrers. Am I to make one bolster of my belly!' The farmer was dumb-founded.

☞ When the brave corporal Cathness was asked, after the battle of Waterloo, if he was not afraid, he replied, 'Afraid! why I was in all the battles of the Peninsula!' But having it explained to him, that the question merely related to a fear of losing the day he said. 'Na, na! I didna fear that, I was only afraid we should be all kilt before we had time to win it!'

☞ Men are called good fellows if they spend their money freely—tip top fellows. And after they have impoverished themselves for the benefit of others, and are no longer the good fellows aforesaid—they are—rascals. Queer world. And if a man fails to the amount of a million, it is all right; but let him fail to the amount of his board bill, and he is a scoundrel.—Promiscious world.

☞ Agur said, "Give me neither poverty nor riches." And this will ever be the prayer of the wise. Our income should be like our shoes—if too small they will gall and pinch us; but if too large, they will cause us to stumble and to trip.

☞ 'Oh! my friend,' said a doctor to an Irish patient, 'be composed, we must all die once.' 'And it's that what vexes me,' replied Pat; 'if I could die a half a dozen times, I'd not care a half a penny about this time.'

The Stolen Knife.

Many years ago, when a boy of seven or eight years there was one thing which I longed more for than anything else, and which I imagined would make me supremely happy. It was a jack knife.—Then I would not be obliged to borrow father's every time I wished to cut a string or a stick, but could whittle whenever I chose, and whenever I pleased. Dreams of kites, bows, and arrows, boats, &c., all manufactured with the aid of that shining blade, haunted me by day and night.

It was a beautiful morning in June, that my father called me and gave me leave, if I wished to go with him to the store. I was delighted, and taking his hand, we started. The birds sang sweetly on every bush, and everything looked so gay and beautiful, that my heart fairly leaped for joy. After our arrival at the village, and while my father occupied in purchasing some articles in a remote part of the store, my attention was drawn to a man who was asking the price of various jack-knives which lay out he counter. As this was an interesting subject to me, I approached, intending only to look at them. I picked one up, opened it, examined it, tried the springs, felt the edge of the blade with my thumb, and thought I could never cease admiring their polished surface.—Oh! if it were only mine, thought I, how happy I should be! Just at this moment happening to look up, I saw the merchant had gone to change a bill for his customer, and no one was observing me. For fear that I might be tempted to do wrong, I started to replace the knife on the counter, but an evil spirit whispered, "Put it in your pocket; quick!" Without stopping to think of the crime or its consequence, I hurriedly slipped it into my pocket, and as I did so, felt a blush of shame burning on my cheek; but the store was rather dark, and no one noticed it, nor did the merchant miss the knife.

We soon started for home, my father giving me a parcel to carry. As we walked along, my thoughts continually rested on the knife, and I kept my hand in my pocket all the time from a sort of guilty fear that it would be seen. This together with carrying the bundle in my other hand, made it difficult for me to keep pace with my father. He noticed it, and gave me a lecture about walking with my hands in my pocket.

Ah! how different were my thoughts then, from what they were when passing the same scenes a few hours before. The song of the birds seemed joyous no longer, but sad and sorrowful, as if chiding me for my wicked act. I could not look my father in the face, for I had been heedless of his precepts, broken one of God's commandments, and became a thief. As these thoughts passed through my mind, I could hardly help crying, but concealed my feelings, and tried to think of the good times I would have with my knife. I could hardly say anything on my way home, and my father thinking I was either tired or sick, kindly took my burden, and spoke soothingly to me, his guilty son. No sooner did we reach home, than I retreated to a safe place, behind the house, to try the stolen knife. I had picked up a stick, and was whittling it, perfectly delighted with the sharp blade, which glided through the wood almost of itself when I heard the deep, subdued voice of my father, calling me by name, and on looking up, saw him at the window directly over my head, gazing down very sorrowfully at me. The stick dropped from my hand, and with the knife clasped in the other, I proceeded in the house. I saw by his looks that my father had divined all. I found him sitting in his arm chair, looking very pale. I walked directly to his side, and in a low, calm voice, he asked me where I got the knife. His gentle manner and kind tone went to my heart, and I burst into tears. As soon as my voice would allow me I made a full confession. He did not flog me, as some father's would have done, but reprimanded me in such a manner, that, while I felt truly penitent for the deed I loved him more than ever, and promised never, never to do the like again. In my father's company, I then returned to the store, and on my knees begged the merchant's pardon, and promised never again to take what was not my own.

My father is long since dead; and never do I think of my first theft, without blessing the memory of him whose kind teaching and gentle corrections have made it, thus far in my life, and forever, my last.—Moore's Rural New Yorker.

The Young Man's Leisure.

Young Man! after the duties of the day are over, how do you spend your evenings? When business is dull, and leaves at your disposal many unoccupied hours, what disposition do you make of them? I have known and now know, many young men, who, if they devoted to any scientific, or literary, or professional pursuits, the time they spend in games of chance, and lounging in bed, might rise to any eminence. You have all read of the sexton's son, who became a fine astronomer by spending a short time every evening, in gazing at the stars, after ringing the bell for nine o'clock. Sir William Phipps, who at the age of forty-five, had attained the order of knighthood, and the office of High Sheriff of New England, and Governor of Massachusetts, learned to read and write after his eighteenth year, of a ship carpenter in Boston. William Gifford, the great editor of the Quarterly, was an apprentice to a shoemaker, and spent his leisure hours in study. And because he had neither pen nor paper, slate or pencil, he wrought out his problems on smooth leather with a blunt awl.

David Rittenhouse, the American astronomer, when a plow-boy, was observed to have covered his plow and fences with figures and calculations. James Ferguson, the great Scotch astronomer, learned to read by himself, and mastered the elements of astronomy while a shepherd's boy in the fields by night. And perhaps, it is not too much to say, that if the hours wasted in idle company, in vain conversation at the tavern, were only spent in the pursuit of useful knowledge, the dullest apprentice in any of our shops might become an intelligent member of society, and a fit person for most of our civil offices. By such a course, the rough covering of many a youth is laid aside; and their ideas, instead of being confined to local subjects and technicalities, might range the wide fields of creation; and other stars from among the young men of this city, might be added to the list of worthies that are gilding our country with bright yet mellow light.—Rev. Dr. Murray.

CHRIST THE CENTRAL GLORY.—It is the glory of the world, that he who formed it dwelt on it; of the air, that he breathed in it; of the sun, that it shone on him; of the ground, that it bare him; of the sea, that he walked on it; of the elements, that they nourished him; of the waters, that they refreshed him; of us men, that he lived and died among us; yea, that he lived and died for us; that he assumed our flesh and blood and carried it to the highest heavens, where it shines as the eternal ornament and wonder of the creation of God. It gives also a luster to providence. It is the chief event that adorns the records of time, and enlivens the history of the universe. It is the glory of the various great lines of providence that they point at this as their centre; that they prepared the way for its coming; that, after its coming, they are subservient to the ends of it; though in a way indeed too at present mysterious and unsearchable. Thus, we know that they either fulfil the promises of the crucified Jesus, or his threatenings; and show either the happiness of receiving him, or the misery of rejecting him.—Maclaurin.

CURE FOR BRONCHITIS.—One of our cleverest and most reliable friends, says the Holly Springs Hearld, informs us that common mullen leaves, smoked in a new pipe—one in which tobacco had never been used—is a sure and certain cure for bronchitis. The remedy is simple and innocent, and within the reach of all. Recollect that this is not the remedy of a retired physician whose sands of life have nearly run out, but is given to us by one who has tried it himself and seen it tried with others, and has never known it to fail in effecting a permanent cure. The remedy is simple, and we can cert inly discover no harm likely to arise from a trial.

SOFT SOAP.—'Ma, I am going to make some soft soap for the Fair this Fall,' said a beautiful miss of sixteen to her mother the other day.

'What put that notion into your head Sallie?'

'Why, mother, the premium is just what I have been wanting for a long while.'

'What is it?'

'A 'New Jersey Farmer,' I hope he will be a good looking one though!'

DID YOU EVER?—Did you ever buy a new hat, when the hatter didn't look into the old one to see who made it? Did you ever go to a new barber to have your hair cut that he didn't ask you who cut it last, and say poorly done?

☞ The new style of bonnet is a unique affair, and resembles a cabbage leaf trimmed with tomatoes. The price is cheap—only thirty dollars.

☞ Dishonest men conceal their faults from themselves as well as others; honest men know and confess them.

PEOPLE'S MEETINGS.—A meeting of all opposed to the National Administration will be held at Gwin's School House, in Logan township on Friday Evening, October 8th 1858, at 7½ o'clock, to be addressed by L. W. Hall, Esq., of this place.

The last meeting of the Campaign will be held in this place, on Saturday evening, October 9th, at 7½ o'clock in front of the "Logan House," and will be addressed by H. Bucher Swoope, of Clearfield county, Gen. John Williamson and A. W. Benedict of Huntingdon, Col. L. W. Hall of this place, and, should health permit, by S. S. Blair, Esq.; the People's candidate for Congress.

Declination of Mr. Patton.

Below will be found the Card of the Committee, appointed at the American Conference, withdrawing the name of Mr. Geo. W. Patton from the list of candidates for Congress, and also the card of Mr. Patton declining the nomination tendered him by the aforesaid Conference:

NO AMERICAN CANDIDATE.—The Congressional American Executive Committee informed Geo. W. Patton, Esq. of his nomination by the Americans as a candidate for Congress. He replied that he did not desire an election to that office, at this time.

By order of the Committee.

ALTOONA, Oct. 4th, 1858.

MR. EDITOR:—Seeing my name used as a candidate for Congress in this Congressional District, I desire to say that I have never accepted a nomination for that office, and do not wish to be considered a candidate. GEO. W. PATTON

The Election.

Before the next weekly visit of the Tribune, the freemen of Pennsylvania will be called upon to exercise one of their dearest rights and most important duties. They are to cast their ballots for their county and some of the State officers. This is a privilege which they should not only highly appreciate, but conscientiously exercise. There are two extremes upon this subject, both of which they should alike carefully avoid. The one is undue excitement and mere party feeling, for the sake of party, without regard to principles. The other is indifference, leading to the neglect of an important duty, or the omission of a sacred privilege. The one is an abuse of liberty—the other is a failure to appreciate its blessings.

In this country every man is supposed to have some settled views as to the policy of the general or State government. And if so, it is his bounden duty to express it through the elective franchise. It is a culpable neglect of a high duty for any one, except from necessity, to stay from the polls. His country calls, and he is morally bound to obey. It is no more than a suitable return for the protection to life, property, &c., which she guarantees to him. Some will say, my vote can not change the result. This they can not possibly tell. One vote has before now controlled some of the most important elections. But, besides, suppose all should reason thus, and be so indifferent to such matters; what then would become of our public interests? Again, it is sometimes said that we are always beaten anyhow, so what is the use of my spending time in going to the polls. My vote will be lost anyhow. No man's vote is ever lost. His principles have the benefit of its moral force, by showing the strength of his cause. For this reason, if for no other, every man who loves his country, and who believes that the principles which he holds will be for her advancement and the good of his fellow men, is bound to vote.—Then, freemen, to the Polls—TO THE POLLS, and in an independent, manly way, unbiassed by prejudice, untrammelled by party feeling or party drill, exercise your right to choose your own servants for office. These officers are not your masters—they are your servants. You vote for them not as men, but as the exponents of certain principles. Don't vote for any man because he is your friend, your neighbor, or your acquaintance, but because you believe him to be the advocate of that policy which you think is right.

The Questions at Issue.

On next Tuesday [illegible] of our good old Commonwealth, the "Key-Stone" State, will be called upon to decide important issues, especially will they be the case in their vote for Congressmen.

The Administration is extremely anxious, and is putting forth every effort to secure such a vote in Pennsylvania, as can be construed into a sanction of its course. In every district where its influence and immense patronage could accomplish it, Lecompton Democrats have been nominated for Congress, with the hope of their election, and thereby the next Congress be Lecompton in its complexion—the Administration be endorsed, and the track cleared for a second nomination of James Buchanan for the Presidency.

One issue, then, fairly before the people of Pennsylvania in the coming election, is the Kansas policy of the Administration. The question is, will they endorse "the Lecompton Swindle" and "the English bribe," or will they not? Will they sanction the attempt of the President of the purest Republic on earth to force upon a free people a Constitution conceived in iniquity, begotten in sin, and a nondescript monster in its parts, or will they not? Will they stand by bleeding, wronged and distracted Kansas, whose noble sons have rejected by such an overwhelming majority the bribe held out to them, in lieu of slavery? And will they say, by the men whom they elect to Congress, that she shall be one of the sisterhood of States whenever she shall, with a republican constitution approved by the majority of her own citizens, knock at the door of the Union for admission? Thus they will be deciding against oppression, and wrong, and the dictation of Southern fire-eaters, and in favor of popular sovereignty and the right of the majority to rule. They will be intimating to Mr. Buchanan in language not to be misunderstood, that they do not approve of his being intimidated by the threat of disunion on the part of Southern radicals—and forsake his own cherished measure, popular sovereignty, and try, in order to please them, to force slavery upon Kansas.

A second issue is, that of protection to home industry, and especially to Pennsylvania's interests. In this issue we, as Pennsylvanians, are more deeply interested than any other. The want of the protective policy has filled our country with the cry of distress. But particularly has our own State suffered for want of it. Our inexhaustible coal fields are, comparatively, unworked—the fires of most of our furnaces have been put out—our manufactories are in general standing still.—And whence comes the supply of coal, iron and goods? From foreign ports. The balance of trade is by millions against us. What must be the result? What would be the result of a family expending more than their income? Need the question be answered? And what is a nation but a large family? And if she buys more than she sells, what will inevitably be the result? Will not her treasury be exhausted, she become bankrupt, and her people be impoverished? The fates could not prevent it. Has this not been the policy to which Mr. Buchanan has long been committed and that which has or will, by the end of his term of office, involve his administration in a debt of over $100,000,000? No one will pretend to deny this. Then he and his administration are committed against the policy of protection. Yet for the want of such a system we are this day suffering from the effects of one of the most terrible commercial pressures which has ever befallen our country. The protective policy, then, is an issue in the present campaign. The people are to decide whether they will sustain the President in his free-trade policy or not. If they do, let them vote for the man of their choice. If not, they will oppose them.

In this Congressional district, we are favored in having as candidates men who are, personally, as unexceptionable as the Commonwealth can produce. Personally we hold them both in very high esteem, enjoy the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with the gentlemen, and stand in friendly relations to them. They are high-minded, honorable men, ornaments in their profession, and men of high moral worth. Personally we could not possibly distinguish between them. And we commend them each to the district as an honest exponent of the principles which their parties profess.

Mr. Pershing is the nominee of the Lecompton Democrats—the former law-student and present bosom companion of Jeremiah S. Black, Attorney General, sworn friend and counsellor of the President. He is the avowed friend of the Administration, and stands upon the Cincinnati Platform—and more recently the Cambria County Platform; and is therefore fully committed to the Kansas policy of the Administration and [illegible] for protection. Mr. Blair is decided American in his feelings; opposed to the extension of slavery—in favor of the immediate admission of Kansas, and an advocate of the protective policy. Then let those whose opinions accord therewith, vote for Mr. Pershing—but as for ourselves, we must support Mr. Blair.

☞ We hear that it has been reported throughout the county that J. B. Warfel, an independent candidate for sheriff, will run a heavy American vote in this place. We beg leave to contradict this rumor. The Americans of this place have ever been consistent in their votes and actions, and it is not at all likely that they would drop a good and true man to the party, and its regular nominee, to support one who is now trying to disorganize the party and defeat the county ticket. The object of Mr. W. in coming out as an independent is well known, and is universally condemned. The Americans throughout the county may rest assured that their friends in this place will stand by the regularly nominated ticket, and will expect all others to do the same. The Americans here know Mr. Funk to be a man in whom they can place the utmost confidence and will vote for him to a man.—Let nothing deter the friends of Mr. Funk from voting for him, and our word for it, they will not regret doing so.

☞ A very ungentlemanly and entirely uncalled for editorial article appears in the last number of the Standard, commenting on the connection of Rev. A. B. Clark with the editorial department of this paper. We can not conceive what motive the writer of the article had in view in thus noticing the fact, unless it be to disparage that gentleman in the estimation of this community—an act certainly beneath the dignity of an editor. Associating him with the political department, is gratuitous on the part of the Standard, and betrays the base intent of the article. We looked for better things from the editor of that paper, and feel inclined to attribute his remarks to undue excitement on political matters, which cause men to say and do many things they afterwards regret or feel ashamed of; and such we are sure must be the case with our cotemporary when he reflects upon the injury he has attempted to inflict upon one who never injured him.

NOT CORRECT.—The report that Mr. Geo. B. Cramer, the Democratic candidate for Director of the Poor, has declined the nomination, is not correct. Mr. C. is still a candidate and, we are assured, will not decline. We are not acquainted with his opponent, therefore we can not speak of him knowingly, but we feel sure that, although he may make as good a Director, he would not make a better one. It is an office that should be filled by a good man, in the selection of whom political prejudices should be ignored. Mr. Cramer is well known in this and other parts of the county to be the friend of the friendless and a man scrupulously honest in all his dealings, and should he be selected to fill the office for which he is a candidate, we know that everything will be done right. We presume he will be voted for by the citizens of this place generally, without respect to party ties.

☞ Within the past two weeks we have received a number of communications on the subject of the Congressional nominees, which we have declined publishing for the reason that they were calculated to do injury and disturb the harmony now existing in relation to the People's Ticket. We can not lend our columns to those who would trample down the men and principles whom we respect and cherish, and no true friend of the cause could ask us to do so.

ELECTION RETURNS.—In our next issue we hope to be able to give the result of the election in this county. To aid us in doing this we request our friends in all parts of the county to take the trouble to forward to us the result in their district as early on Wednesday morning as they possibly can. We will delay our paper until Thursday morning, should we thereby be enabled to obtain full returns.

LADIES HOME MAGAZINE.—The October number of this Magazine has been received, and is better than any of its predecessors. We have looked through it carefully, and can safely say that it is inferior to none of the $3 Magazines. Published by T. S. Arthur, Philadelphia, at $2 per year, or four copies, one year, $5.

ATLANTIC MONTHLY.—The October number of this anxiously looked for publication is on our table, freighted with a large amount of the very best reading matter. It contains no love, or blood-and-thunder stories but imparts information of a useful character. Price $3 per annum. Philip, Sampson & Co. Boston.

Pertinent SCISSORS.

☞ A drove of fifty cattle and 50 horses arrived in Dexter, Iowa, on Wednesday last, from Texas, having been from the 17th of June on the road.

☞ The ladies of Iowa are decidedly fast. On the 18th inst., a race of ladies, on foot, came off at Iowa city, for a prize of a silver tea basket. The prize was won by a Miss Hadley.

☞ There is a hill in Nebraska so steep that when driving down it the driver on his box can only see one half the time the ears of his leading mules. A steep hill or a "steep" story.

☞ Since 1830, nearly 27,000 miles of railroad have been built in the United States, which have cost, on an average, about $35,000 per mile, or $945,000,000.

☞ An Irish fellow in Albany is going to have his life insured, so that when he dies he can have something to live on, and not be dependent upon the cold charities of the world as he once was.

☞ The Americans of Baltimore have renominated Hon. Thomas Swann for Mayor.—This nomination is equivalent to his formal return as mayor, for the ensuing two years, upon the day appointed for the municipal election.

☞ The city authorities of Louisville have at last put a gang of men to work digging the long talked of sewer at the mouth of the creek. This is the mitiatory to filling up the mouth of the creek.

☞ There are 205 citizens in Providence who pay a tax on $50,000 and upwards. The highest tax is by Alexander Duncan, who pays $16,621 18 on property valued at $4,040 100. A rich man, that.

☞ Mr. George Penniman, an employee of the Boston and Lowell Railroad, while sawing wood with a circular saw, at Wilton, N. H., fell across the saw, which struck his breast, cutting his heart in too. He instantly fell dead.

☞ Billy Bowleg's "boot party," thirteen in number, who refused to leave the Everglades with their chief, have been brought to terms by starvation, and have consented to go where the Government wills.

☞ The new Custom House at Pensacola, Florida, has just been completed. The cost was $60,000. The amount of revenue collected at that port for 1857, was $178 costing to collect it, $8,012.

☞ At a fire in Cincinnati, a few days since, the company of the steam fire engine "Citizens' Gift" hitched horses, ran two squares, laid out 350 feet of hose, firing up in the meantime, and put water on the fire in four minutes from the tap of the alarm bell.

☞ Another great submarine and overland telegraph is talked about. It is said that the Emperor of Russia has determined to lay down a line which shall connect St. Petersburg with his North American possessions, China and California.

☞ One of our exchanges speaks of a beautiful girl who would prove a capital speculation for a fortune hunter of the right sort. Her voice is of silver, her hair of gold, her teeth of pearl, her cheeks of rubies, and her eyes of diamonds.

☞ Upon a traveller telling Gen. Doyle, an Irishman, that he had been where the bugs were so large and powerful that two of them would drain a man's blood in one night, the general replied: "My good sir, we have the same animals in Ireland, but they are called hum bugs."

☞ The Louisiana Pioneer, of the 14th, says the sugar crop in the parish of Assumption has never promised such favorable results. The cane is already as mature as it was last year when "rolling" began, and it is very likely the planters will put their mills to work by the 20th inst.

☞ The N. O. Delta of the 14th says:—"There must thus far have been at least ten thousand persons attacked by yellow fever, of which number, over seven thousand have passed safely through the process of acclimation, while more than two thousand have descended into the silent tomb."

☞ The number of voters in York State is about 700,000; but the fullest vote ever polled was something like 100,000 less, and the average vote is about 500,000. This shows that she has 100,000 voters who never visit the polls, and 200,000 who only do so occasionally. One voter out of every four stays at home, and leaves the great principles to take care of themselves.

☞ Last Thursday, at the Mount Vernon furnace, Penna., a cow broke into a woman's garden for the forty-seventh time. The provoked woman became so exasperated at the cow, while turning her out, that she, by the intensity of her passion, ruptured internally a blood-vessel, and before medical aid could be rendered bled to death.

☞ Riddle—It was done when it was begun, it was done when it was half done, and yet was'nt done when it was finished. Now what was it? Of course you can't guess. Will this do? Timothy Johnson courted Susannah Dunn. It was done when it was begun, and it was done when it was half done, and yet it wasn't Dunn when it was finished—for it was Johnson.

☞ The most capacious pocket-book on record is the one mentioned by a coroner's jury in Iowa thus:—"We find the deceased came to his death by a visitation of God, and not by the hands of violence. We find upon the body a pocket-book, containing $2, a check on Fletcher's Bank for $250, and two horses, a wagon, and some butter, eggs and feathers."

☞ John M'Ginnis, who attempted suicide in the Ohio penitentiary by cutting his throat and swallowing the knife, is dead. An operation was performed after he had swallowed the knife. Chloroform was administered, a piece of the sixth rib, about three and a half inches in length, sawed out, a hand inserted, which drew from the cavity of the chest and near the heart, a dull, ugly looking knife, about three and a half or four inches in length.

☞ There is a spot in the Swatara Gap of the Blue Mountains, which is called the "Cold Hole." The hole is only eighteen inches in depth; but, even in the hottest days of summer the air in it is uncomfortably cold. A thermometer which marked 90° in ordinary shade, was removed to this hole, and, in about an hour, without any change in the outside atmosphere, the mercury fell to 50°. It is supposed that a current of air ascends from beneath—probably from an underground cold spring.

☞ Gen. Winfield Scott, who is now stopping at West Point, met with a severe accident last week, which may confine him to his bed for some time. He was about attending a dinner party given by Col. Delafield, when, on going down the stairs, his foot slipped, and he fell to the bottom. Owing to the bullet in his shoulder and the sword wound in his arm, he was unable to arrest his decent, and the fall was severe.—To a person of his advanced years and large frame, this is a most serious affair. The General was taken to his bed, cupped and leeched; and though he feels better, he is still suffering intense pain.

☞ Of the particulars of the recent duel at Richmond, Va., between Messrs Wise and Clemens, we have the following:—They fought with pistols at ten paces, and exchanged four shots, the last of which took effect, Clemens having had his thigh broken. Wise received no wound. At the close of each shot every effort was made by mutual friends to adjust the matter, but without effect, the origin of the difficulty being of a character which admitted of no compromise short of retraction, and that was impossible.—But it is said that at the last both of the principals cordially shook hands. The wounded man is not in danger though suffering great pain.

Morphy's Great Blindfold Feat at Chess.

A Birmingham paper thus describes Mr. Morphy's great feat of playing eight games of Chess [illegible] at the same time:

"Mr. Morphy sat in the centre of the library at a table, at the right hand [illegible] his eight opponents, with their eight boards before them. Morphy, gazing at the lozenged window before him, and leaning carelessly, with his arm thrown over the bench on which he sits, attacked each board in succession. Move and counter-move were audibly announced by a friend, and when the tables had been traversed, one move at a time, the process was recommenced. It was a most interesting scene. Mr. Morphy had the whole eight games so thoroughly "in his head," that, when a piece was accidently shifted on one of the boards, and a move was made in which it was involved, he at once detected something was wrong, and exclaimed that it was "an impossible move." Such it was acknowledged to be. The piece ought never to have been on that square. In the same game, Mr. Morphy left a piece en prize, the taking of which involved a mate in a few moves, and accordingly, on his adversary taking the piece, unconcious of the snare laid for him, the game became Mr. Morphy's almost immediately. His play was very rapid. Each game lasted, on the average, about thirty moves, so that he had to bear in mind at least two hundred and forty moves, and the position of every board throughout from begining to end. The fact was evidently regarded by those present, as an effort of genius not to be accomplished by more than one or two individuals in a century. Of the eight simultaneous games, Mr. Morphy won six, drew one against Mr. Avery, President of the Birmingham Chess Club, and lost only one, that against Mr. Kipping. The eight games occupied about six hours; and at the close, Mr. Morphy being asked if he felt fatigued, said: 'not in the least; but he should be glad to get his dinner!' The match between Mr. Staunton and Morphy stands thus: stake $500 a side; the scorer of the first eleven games wins. To commence on the 1st of November next. Mr. Morphy was to proceed from Birmingham to Paris, to challenge Herr Harwittz (hitherto the most celebrated blindfold player in Europe,) and probable afterwards to Breslau, to play Herr Anderssen; but it is expected that his match, with the latter, will be played in London."

A Rarey Exhibition.

The horse taming experiments of Mr. Rarey, brother of the famous horse tamer of England, were very successful at the Horse Exhibition at Springfield. The Springfield Republican says that a vicious horse was brought into the tent, that would let no one ride him. Several attempts had been made, but the riders were thrown to the ground, and no one could be induced to try it again. Concerning this animal the Republican says: "Mr. Rarey had not been to work upon the horse, in earnest, for more than twenty minutes, before he was sitting upon his back. At one time the horse lay down upon his side, stretched at full length upon the ground, every limb free and as quiet as a kitten. Mr. Rarey then lay down with his head on the horse's neck; to show how the hunters sleep upon the prairie. Then, to the amazement of the spectators, he lay down upon the horse's outstretched legs, and lifting the uppermost hind leg, placed it over his own neck, and lay thus for a half a minute, with his head between the animal's iron shod heels. Subsequently, owing to the flapping of the tent, the horse voluntarily rose, and Mr. Rarey mounted his back, sitting upon him like a woman, side saddle fashion. Then he lifted his foot slowly over the horse's back and sat astride. The thing was done to everybody's satisfaction and delight. We never saw a set of men more thoroughly delighted. At the close of the process, Mr. Rarey rode the horse out of the tent, and exhibited him to the outsiders. The groom then mounted him, and rode him quietly to his stable. The job was finished, and we believe that everybody was convinced that the system, in the hands of a master, has in it the power of taming to perfect gentleness any horse in the world."

ICE IN RED HOT METAL.—The most wonderful fact connected with ice making is the remarkable experiment by which water was frozen in a capsule of plantinum at a white heat. This wonderful achievement proceeds upon the theory that water will not touch a body of metal heated beyond a certain degree. A most important fact it is for all connected with steam producing, that it will assume in such a case a spheroidal shape, and that a clear space will be preserved between it and the glowing metal, owing, doubtless, to the repulsive effects of great heat in all cases whatever. Professor Faraday has carried this marvel even a step further, and actually frozen a ball of mercury in the midst of a glowing furnace, by the judicious admixture of carbopic acid and ether, so as to give greater vigor to the evaporating process. Such are the achievements of modern chemical science.

CHILD'S NOSE BITTEN OFF BY ITS FATHER.—Night before last, says the St. Louis Republican, a domestic broil arose between Daniel Devine and his wife. The woman was in bed with her daughter, a child about five years old. Devine extinguished the light, went to where they were lying, and, mistaking the little girl for her mother, deliberately stooped down, and bit her nose off, discovering the whole of that member from the face—a deed too horrible almost to think of. The brute was, of course, arrested on two charges, one of disturbing the peace and the other of mayhem. On the former the Recorder fined him $100, and on the State offence sent him before the criminal court, now in session. The penalty for mayhem, we believe, is at least ten years in the penitentiary.

A NOVEL STEAMER.—The Baltimore Patriot says of Mr. Winan's new steamship: It differs entirely from any ship ever built in the world. The length is, we beleive, about 170 feet, resembling two cones, or sugar loaves, united tapering to points sharp almost as needles. The diameter at the thickest part is proportionate to the conic inclination. A large propelling wheel, with diagonal paddles, runs in the centre at right angles, and is driven by powerful engines. Instead of riding, it will penetrate the largest waves and pass through them, accomplishing a voyage across the Atlantic in, perhaps, six days or less.

SUFFERING HUMANITY, READ THIS.—The undersigned takes this method of informing the public generally that there is no medicine now offered to the public that is equal to DR. WALKER'S VALANTICOIL in relieving suffering humanity, as it

I was an observer of its effects on a friend of mine, who suffered almost everything from a neuralgic affection which resisted the best medical treatment in Centre county. We applied freely the Galvanic Oil to the painful part, and gave some inwardly, and in 20 minutes the patient was asleep, and which awakened was free from pain and continued so. This is a positive fact which I am willing to make good at any time. In case of Felon who tried it clearly the same length of time.

AUTUMN.—We clip the following; beautiful lines on Autumn, from an exchange:

"The sultry days of Summer are gone, and the sweltering days of September are gone. Happy hours we passed, when wandering through the unmown fields, or when slowly wending our paths through the thick woods, while the feathered warblers sang their morning songs. All exist now but in recollection. What pleasant remembrances are connected with the [illegible] weeks spent amid the charms of nature! Who would we yearn to taste those joys again? But they are passed away, and the northern winds [illegible] through the fading trees, a harbinger of approaching Winter.

The little brooks, on whose borders we often stood and gazed on the finny tribes that sported in their crystal waves, will soon build [illegible] themselves icy covering. The birds which made the forest vocal with melody, have taken their flight to milder climes. The foliage is fast losing its verdant freshness and fades with the approach of Autumn.

Yet, has Nature lost its charm? Is there nothing interesting and instructive in its present aspect? Walk into the fields or on the hills before the sun has arisen, and watch the grandeur of the Eastern skies, and say not that Autumn hath not charms. The mighty canopy, the Niagara, the Valley side of the Alleghanies, when beautified in sublimity with this season, to insignificance. On every cloud, the golden rays blend in the most pleasing beauty, while the sun, himself, slowly rises above the distant hills, Nature awakes from its lethargy, and all seems as a new creation. On every blade of grass, the frost sparkles like purest diamonds, and the vari-colored forest leaves reflect the dew-wet surface. The robin [illegible] from the grove and basks in the genial warmth, as FLETCHER beautifully says:

And the light shoots like a streak
Of subtle fire; the wind blows cold
While the morning doth unfold;
Now the birds begin to rouse
And the squirrel from the boughs
Leaps to get his nuts and fruit.
The early lark that ever was mute,
Carols to the rising day.
Many a note, and many a lay."

We see those beautiful flowers which but a short time ago were in radiance and splendor, now fallen and withering on the plain. The leaves that Summer threw their flickering shades in the bubbling brooks or on the grassy paths, are now strewing the plain. The rich green has become sere, or changed to golden indicative of Autumn."

The [illegible] made a very narrow escape from our infuriated Constable, Joe Ely, who, in a few minutes would have taken charge of him, in his [illegible] manner.

"HANG A PIN THERE."—This remark often made by political speakers when they wish their audiences to remember a particular point of their argument, or a fact noted, or idea advanced. Now we do not intend to make a stump speech, or any other kind of a speech, but merely to ask you to "stick a pin somewhere," when we inform you that our good old friend, Jos Hileman, has just returned from Philadelphia with a large stock of Fall goods, which he wishes to sell out and get them off his hands for as soon as possible, if not sooner. Joe always brings a large and varied assortment of goods, and all those who deal with him know that he sells as cheap and treats people as cleverly as any other store-keeper in the place. The ladies and gentlemen, and get bargains while they may be had.

MAP OF BLAIR COUNTY.—We were shown a few days since, by Mr. Freed, an outline of the forthcoming map of Blair County, on which he has been engaged during the past summer. We believe it to be complete, so far as we are able to judge, and think it will give satisfaction. Mr. F. is now engaged in distributing circulars (a copy of which will be found in another column) and receiving subscriptions. We hope the number of residences, churches, public buildings, &c., will be placed on the map, making it ornamental as well as useful. We hope the enterprising publishers will be well remunerated. Price of the map $5.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE.—The Teachers of this county, is now in session at Hollidaysburg, and there are some sixty teachers in attendance, besides a few notables from other counties. In consequence, the scholars are enjoying a holiday. Suppose they are sorry.

AUTUMN.—We clip the following beautiful essay on Autumn, from an exchange:—At last the sweltering days of Summer are gone. The happy hours we passed, when wandering over the unmown fields, or when slowly wending our paths through the thick woods, while a myriad of feathered warblers sang their morning lays, exist now but in recollection. What pleasing remembrances are connected with the few short weeks spent amid the charms of nature? How we yearn to taste those joys again? Yet they are passed away, and the northern winds whistle through the fading trees, a harbinger of stormy Winter.

The little brooks, on whose borders we have oft stood and gazed on the finny tribes sporting in their crystal waves, will soon build for themselves icy covering. The birds which made the forest vocal with melody, have taken their flight to milder climes. The foliage is fast losing its verdant freshness and fades with the color of Autumn.

Yet, has Nature lost its charm? Is there nothing interesting and instructive in its fading aspect? Walk into the fields or on the hills before the Sun has arisen, and watch the grandeur of the Eastern skies, and say not that Autumn hath no charms. The mighty cataract of the Niagara, the Valley side of the Amazon, when compared in sublimity with this sinks into insignificance. On every cloud, the richest colors blend in the most pleasing beauty, and when Sol, himself, slowly rises above the distant hills, Nature awakes from its lethargy, and all seems as a new creation. On every blade of grass, the first sparkles like purest diamonds, and the vari-colored forest leaves reflect from their dew-wet surface. A NARROW ESCAPE!—"Whose Hat?"—On Wednesday morning last, a black hat, nearly cut in two, (by car wheels, evidently,) was discovered on the Railroad track near Kittaning Point. It is supposed to have contained an excess of ballast, as some fragments of brick were scattered about it. The man belonging to the hat could not be found.—Exchange.

Mr. G. is now engaged in distributing circulars, (a copy of which will be found in another column) and receiving subscriptions. Views of a number of residences, churches, public buildings, &c., will be placed on the margin of the map, making it ornamental as well as useful.—We hope the enterprising publishers may be well remunerated. Price of the map $5,00

TEACHERS INSTITUTE.—The Teachers Institute of this county, is now in session at Hollidaysburg, and there are some sixty teachers in attendance, besides a few notables from other counties. In consequence, the scholars are now enjoying a holliday. Suppose they are not sorry.

NO PUGILISTS.—The three young men of this place, Messrs. Donohue, Erringer and Trout, who were placed in the list of pugilists by Porter's Spirit of the Times, and to which we referred last week, expressing a doubt, at the same time as to the correctness of the story, have called upon us and requested us to state that they are not pugilists and do not desire notoriety as such, deeming it rather degrading than otherwise. We did not credit the story when we first read it, for the very reason that we know the gentlemen mentioned to be peaceable, order-loving men, who would not be guilty of such barbarity, and consequently we treated it as a joke. Where they are known there is no need of contradiction to the report, as no one believed it, but we make this statement for the purpose of setting matters all right abroad.

☞ Our fellow townsman, Col. L. W. Hall, the champion of popular sovereignty and the rights of the people, has been engaged during the past ten days in addressing the people at different points in this and adjoining counties, of the Congressional District. He spoke, on Thursday evening last, to quite a respectable sized meeting at Hollidaysburg, with telling effect, showing clearly, to any unprejudiced mind, that Mr. Pershing, the Democratic candidate is unsound on the great questions of the day.—Gen. Williamson, of Huntingdon, also spoke at the Hollidaysburg meeting, and, made his remarks felt. Col. Hall spoke at Bells Mills on Friday afternoon, at Tyrone on the same evening and at Martinsburg on Saturday afternoon. All of these meetings were well attended.

ROBBERY.—Christian Mosbach, of Altoona, a German pedlar, was returning home on Friday evening last with his wagon load of articles for Saturday sales, and was attacked near the Hollidaysburg toll gate, on the Altoona Road, about two o'clock at night, by two large bullying men, with knives presented nearly as large as cleavers, and demanded of him that he surrender to them his fowls, &c., which he declined to do; but by their threats of his life, &c., they took several large turkeys, chickens &c., from his possession. Mr. Mosbach feels thankful that he got off with his life, with the loss of his fowls. Our advice to persons passing over the Plank Road is, not to be too late, and always go armed.—Whig.

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last, a young man named John Long, of this place, a brakesman on one of the freight trains on the Penna. R. R., had his left arm badly crushed about the elbow, by being caught between the dead-heads of two freight cars which he was engaged in coupling. The accident occurred a short distance below Huntingdon, to which town he was immediately conveyed. Dr. Lewden was called in and dressed the fractured arm. The injured man was bro't to this place on Thursday evening, and we are pleased to learn is doing as well as could be expected.

THE INJURED.—James Plumer, the young man injured by the premature discharge of a cannon, while firing a salute in honor of the arrival of Gen. R. C. McGill and staff, at the Hollidaysburg encampment, is recovering as rapidly as the nature of his wounds will admit. He still remains at the American House in Hollidaysburg. A subscription for his benefit was started at the encampment, and the contributors, we understand, were very liberal.

HAND SMASHED.—Wm. McMonagal, brakesman on the Pennsylvania Railroad, had his hand badly crushed, at Altoona, on Saturday. He was in the act of coupling cars, when his hand was accidently caught between the bumpers. Fortunately it was not so seriously injured as to render amputation necessary.—Standard.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. Mr. Keesey, of Johnstown, will preach in the United Brethren Church, in this place, on Sabbath morning next.

By Divine permission, Rev. A. H. Taylor will preach for the Baptist congregation of this place on Sabbath morning next.

Tribute of Respect.

At a meeting of Mountain Lodge No. 281 A. Y. M., held on the 30th of September 1858, the following Preamble and Resolutions were adopted, viz:

WHEREAS, In the providence of an all wise God, an esteemed Brother James Gardner, has been called from time to eternity. Therefore:

Resolved, That while we desire to bow meekly to the will of Him who doeth all things well, we mourn with heart-felt sorrow the untimely death of our esteemed and worthy brother.

Resolved, That we sincerely condole with his bereaved wife and friends, and commend them to the care and mercy of Him who has declared that he will be a "husband to the widow and a father to the fatherless."

Resolved, That as a token of respect to the deceased, the members of this Lodge will wear the usual badge of mourning, and the Lodge Room be craped for the space of thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the Secretary to the friends of the deceased Brother, and for publication in the Altoona Tribune, and Tyrone Star.

THE PANIC—MORE FAVORABLE.—The panic in New York seems to be on the increase. In this city everything goes on smoothly, and the only failures we have heard of were the failures to furnish good fits made by some inferior clothing establishments. There is no such difficulty to be encountered by those who patronize the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chestnut, street, above sixth. Gentlemen and Youths never fail to procure capital fits at this popular establishment.

THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE.—One of the very best Cough Medicines to be found anywhere, is Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup, sold by G. W. Kessler, at 50 cents per bottle.

The names of Property Owners, generally, will be inserted in their proper places. Plans of the Principal Villages, on an enlarged scale, with a Business Directory of each, containing the names and business of subscribers, and a Distance Table, showing the distance between any two villages in the County, will be engraved on the margin. The map will be handsomely colored, mounted on rollers, and finished in the best style, so as to make a highly ornamental, interesting and very valuable work. The price of the map will be at the low figure of Five Dollars per copy, to be paid upon delivery of the map. Views of prominent buildings will be placed on the margin of the map by special contracts.

The Publishers and authorized agents will visit every portion of the County, to solicit patronage to the work, and upon their call will be the time to subscribe, as it is entirely a local work, and can be sold by subscription only.

Direct all Communications to the Publishers, Hollidaysburg, Penn.

GEIL & FREED, PUBLISHERS;
B. K. JOHNSON, AGENT. No. 7 Harts Building, Sixth St., above Chestnut, Philadelphia.

We, the undersigned, have examined the manuscript map of Blair County, Pa., to be published by Geil & Freed, and we regard it as being very thorough and accurate; being made from special surveys, it is reliable.—Considering the superior character of the work, and its usefulness, the great expense of time and money necessarily incurred in getting it up, we think it is offered very reasonable, and deserving of the most liberal patronage. We hope our citizens will interest themselves in the valuable work, and give it an encouragement worthy of themselves, and the high standing of their county.

MECHANICS, INVENTORS, MANUFACTURERS AND FARMERS.

The Scientific American has now reached its Fourteenth Year, and will enter upon a New Volume on the 11th of September. It is the only weekly publication of the kind now issued in this country, and it has a very extensive circulation in all the States of the Union. It is not, as some might suppose from its title, a dry, abstruse work on technical science, on the contrary, it so deals with the great events going on in the scientific, mechanical and industrial works as to please and instruct every one. If the Mechanic or Artizan wishes to know the best machine in use, or how to make any substance employed in his business—if the Housewife wishes to get a recipe for making a good color, &c.—if the Inventor wishes to know what is going on in the way of improvements—if the Manufacturer wishes to keep posted with the times, and to employ the best facilities in his business—if the man of leisure and study wishes to keep himself familiar with the progress made in the chemical laboratory, or in the construction of telegraphs, steamships, railroads, reapers, mowers, and a thousand other machines and appliances, both of peace and war—all these desiderata can be found in the Scientific American, and not elsewhere. They are here presented in a reliable and interesting form, adapted to the comprehension of minds unpracticed in the higher branches of science and art.

TERMS:—One Copy, One Year, $2: One Copy, 6 Months, $1; Five Copies, 6 Months, $4: Ten Copies, 6 Months, $8; Ten Copies, Twelve Months, $15; Fifteen Copies, Twelve Months, $22; 20 Copies, Twelve Months, $28, in advance.

Specimen copies sent gratuitously for inspection. Southern and Western money, or Postage Stamps, taken for subscriptions.

☞ Letters should be directed to
MUNN & CO., 128 Fulton Street, N. Y.

☞ Messrs. Munn & Co. are extensively engaged in procuring patents for new inventions, and will advise inventors, without charge, in regard to the novelty of their improvements. [Aug. 19, 1858.

POSITIVE INFORMATION!—THE undersigned having perfected their Spring Stock, now offer to the public the LARGEST LOT OF GROCERIES ever presented in the town of Altoona.

Our object in publishing this card is to present the following facts:

1st. The recent hard times have very much reduced the price of Groceries in the city, especially to cash buyers.

2d. We bought them Groceries in large lots, many of them from first hands.

3d. We bought them entirely for cash.

4th. We sell for ready pay.

5th. We keep our stock full by weekly receipts.

6th. We are determined to keep up the credit of our house.

7th. We sell more GROCERIES than any other store in Blair county, at less per cent.

8th. We sell cheaper than any other store in the county.

A continuation of patronage is respectfully solicited.
Altoona, June 10, 1858. McLANE & LEHR.

DUVALL'S GALVANIC OIL. Prepared originally by Prof. H. DU VALL formerly of the College of Surgeons, at Paris, is now offered to the public, ☞ for the cure of sore and painful diseases. ☜

For instance—Pain or soreness in any part of the system, Rheumatism, pain in the back, breast or side, healed breasts, neuralgia, burns, sprains, headache, cramp in the stomach, or any other disease that is SORE and PAINFUL, and it is only over this class of diseases that we claim a perfect VICTORY. We say positively to our patrons we can relieve the sufferer 99 times out of 100. We would just say to the public, Prof. Du Vall was 25 years in bringing to this medicine superiority over all others.

Price 50 cents per bottle—5 per cent. cut off to the trade. All orders must be addressed to

A CARD.—Hear what Mrs. Vaughn of Duncansville says:—I have used the Galvanic Oil prepared by J. D. Stoneroad, Lewistown, Pa., for a very painful disease myself and recommend it to others, and in every case found it to be one of the very best medicines for sore and painful diseases. Relieves all pain in a few minutes. Every family should have it in the house.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Within a few days we have received so many orders and calls for Prof. O. J. Wood's Hair Restorative, that to-day we were compelled to send to Boston for a quantity, (the 6 dozen you forwarded all being sold,) while we might order a quantity from you. Every bottle we have sold seems to have produced three or four new customers and the approbation, and patronage it receives from the most substantial and worthy citizens of our vicinity fully convince us that it is A MOST VALUABLE PREPARATION.

Send us as soon as may be one gross of $1 size; and one dozen $2 size; and believe us yours very respectfully.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted, to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeings his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative, we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise, and that of all our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxurient crop of hair soon started out and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp, and as luxurient a crop of hair as any other child. We can therefore, and do hereby recommend your Restorative, as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair.

We are, yours respectfully,

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: I have used two bottles of Professor Wood's Hair Restorative, and can truly say it is the greatest discovery of the age for restoring and changing the Hair. Before using it I was a man of seventy. My Hair has now attained its original color. You can recommend it to the world without the least fear, as my case was one of the worst kind.

Yours Respectfully,

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR! PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD. COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

Is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when the powers of the system are fully developed, the proper performance of its duties, is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the functions; when the stomach and bowels are at fault, and the whole system suffers in consequence of one organ—the Liver—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, in practice of more than twenty years, to find some remedy wherewith to counteract the many deliable.

To prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with LIVER COMPLAINT, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all obstruction, supplying in its stead, invigorating the digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOM, giving tone and energy, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are CONSEQUENTLY prevented, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring. Only one dose taken before retiring, prevents Nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens all the bowels gently, and cures Costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia. One spoonful will always relieve SICK HEADACHE.

One bottle taken for females obstruction removes the cause of the disease, and makes a perfect cure.

Only one dose immediately relieves Cholic, which is a sure cure for CHOLIC.

One dose often repeated will cure Diarrhœa, MORBUS, and a preventive of CHOLERA.

☞ Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness.

☞ One bottle taken for JAUNDICE removes all yellowness or unnatural color from the skin.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well.

One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa in its worst forms, while Summer yield almost to the first dose.

One or two doses cures in children: there is no remedy in the world, as it never fails.

A few bottles cures Dropsy by exciting the absorbents, commencing the medicine and Ague, Chill Fever, and Fever and Ague, and it operates with certainty, to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞ Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and in daily working cures almost too great to believe. It cures at times by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of LIVER COMPLAINT, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a DISEASED LIVER.

PRICE ONE DOLLAR PER BOTTLE.

FARE REDUCED

HAMMONTON LANDS NEW ENGLAND SETTLEMENT.—RARE OPPORTUNITY.

For all persons in search of a healthy place, favorably situated near Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad, from 3 to 7 hours' ride from Philadelphia, and within a short distance of New York, in an old established neighborhood, and the first division of 10,000 acres divided up into farms of twenty acres and upwards. The soil is of the best quality for the production of fruits, grains, &c. The price is $15 to $20 per acre, payable in easy quarter yearly instalments, within a term of four years, with interest. The terms are made easy, in order to insure the rapid improvement of the land, by enabling every industrious man to buy a farm. It is now being extensively improved by good roads, and some of the best citizens from New England and the Middle States are erecting large improvements. It is a scene of the greatest improvement out of Philadelphia.—Seventy-five houses have been built in four months. Practical farmers and business men from the length and breadth of the Union are settling there. It is an important business place, on account of its being in the midst of a great market. Every article raised upon this land finds an immediate sale. The water is excellent, and no such thing as fever is known.

The soil is a sandy or clay loam, with a clay bottom and retentive of manures. It is free of stones and easily worked. It abounds largely in the phosphates, and such is its fertility that from the crops produced both upon this land and the large areas adjoining under cultivation, it will be found not to be excelled anywhere in the production of crops most adapted to its market.

The reader may be well aware that the earliest and the best fruits and vegetables come from New Jersey, which are annually exported to the amount of millions of dollars. The land, besides being accessible in every way for fertilizers, has an abundant supply of the best quality of muck manure.

Lumber and building materials can be had on the spot at a cheap price, from the mills. Other mills are now being opened, and brickyards being started on the ground. A person can put up a frame tenement for present convenience for one hundred dollars. On account of the extensive emigration, this is the best course to pursue in order to get a place to live in at first. Carpenters and builders are on hand to put up houses on the best terms.

In settling here the emigrant has many advantages. He is within a few hours' ride of the great cities of the Middle States and New England; he is near his old friends and associations; he is in a settled country, where every improvement and comfort of civilization is at hand; he is in a healthy place, and is not subject to the certainty of losing the greater part of his family and his own health by those malignant fevers which make the graves of so many millions of the young and old hardy in the far off regions away from home and friends. Besides, he has a mild climate and an open winter.

There are three trains daily to Philadelphia, and to all those who improve the railroad company gives a free ticket.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages here presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see the land under cultivation; they will meet persons, no doubt, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements, and can judge of the character of the population. Persons should come prepared to purchase; as many are locating, and locations are not held on refusal.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly Literary and Agricultural sheet containing full information of Hammonton and its advantages, will be sent to each enquirer, and can be obtained at 25 cts per annum.

Title indisputable. Warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance, when purchase money is paid. Route to the land:—Leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia, for Hammonton, by railroad, at 7½ A. M. and 5½ P. M.; when there inquire for Mr. Byrnes. Boarding conveniences will be found. Letters and applications can be addressed to R. B. COUGHLIN, 302 South FIFTH Street, below Walnut, Philadelphia. Maps and information cheerfully furnished.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES:

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public a NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal-fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves.

NEW FIRM AND NEW GOODS.—

J. & J. LOWTHER have just returned from the City and are now receiving their stock of which they feel assured are as HANDSOME and CHEAP, if not a little cheaper, than any yet brought to this place. On account of going to Philadelphia late in the season, we have been able to buy our goods at greatly reduced prices, and we are determined to sell them at very small profits for cash or to prompt monthly paying customers.

We have as usual a splendid stock of such as LAWNS, ROBES A' QUILLE, CHALLIES, BAYADERE, LARELLAS, DUCALS, POIL DECHEVRES, DELAINS, PRINTS, GINGHAMS, &c.

Also, Shawls and Mantillas in great variety, together with a good stock of Domestic Dry Goods, Straw Goods, BOOTS & SHOES, HARDWARE, QUEENSWARE, GROCERIES, &c., &c.

The citizens of Altoona will find it to their advantage to examine our stock, as we are not to be undersold.

NEW GROCERY FEED AND PROVISION STORE.

The subscriber would respectfully inform the citizens of Altoona and vicinity that he has opened a store of the above kind, near the corner of Adaline and Julia streets, East Altoona, where he will keep constantly on hand a full supply of everything in his line. His are all fresh and will be sold at prices as low as those of any other establishment in town. His stock of provisions, consisting of will be sold a little cheaper than they can be bought any where else. His Flour is obtained from the best mills in the Western part of the State, and is warranted to be what it is represented.

All kinds of Feed for horses, cows and hogs, always on hand.

I intend to keep such an assortment that I shall at all times be able to supply my customers with whatever they may need, and I intend also to sell at prices which will make it a saving to those who patronize my store.

MARYLAND STATE LOTTERIES

FOR JULY, 1858.

R. FRANCE & CO.,

Managers of the Maryland State Lotteries, present the following Splendid Schemes

FOR AUGUST, 1858.

They caution purchasers of Tickets to beware of ordering Tickets in Lotteries where extraordinary large Capitals are offered for a small cost of Tickets—all such are swindles.

The Maryland Lotteries have been in existence for Forty Years. They are drawn by a State Officer, and can be relied on. If you draw a Prize, you will get your money.—The whole country is flooded with bogus Lottery concerns. Beware of them.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

IMPORTANT TO

TOBACCO CHEWERS.

DR. GUSTAV LINNARD'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES, the great Substitute for Tobacco.

It is a well known and incontrovertable fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe.

MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS

to which the race of man is subject, as careful analysis and long and painful experience have clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effects, which by entering into the blood derange the functions and operations of the Heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased. ..

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have ever used the noxious weed will bear testimony—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, and many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES

Are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling sensation of the Throat—which are always consequent upon abstaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a healthy tone to the Stomach, invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irretrievably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and and unpleasant habit of Tobacco Chewing.

These Troches of Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 Cents per Box. A liberal discount to the Trade.

Prepared solely by the undersigned to whom all orders should be addressed.
